Global CIO, Major US Automaker

Recovered $200M in IT Investment spend at major US automaker

Challenge

Challenged with delivering ongoing IT value, this global automotive client required major changes to their operating model, organizational design, people, process, and technology planning, in order to effectively manage an $800M project portfolio.

Solution

A Fujitsu team of expert consultants drove enterprise value realization, created and then executed on a roadmap that included application and infrastructure transformation, as well as organizational change adoption.

Outcomes Realized

- Reduced cost - recovered more than $200M of IT project spend by eliminating non-aligned IT investments
- Dynamic portfolio management - reduced IT investment approval times from 18 months to 3 months, saving time and money
- Culture change - shifted investment priority towards value realization.
